QRIS :: Stanislaus STARS for Quality

Stanislaus County's voluntary Quality Rating and Improvement System (QRIS), Stanislaus STARS for Quality, serves programs in Stanislaus County and is administered by the Stanislaus County Office of Education and the Child Development Training Consortium – Yosemite Community College District. Since July 1, 2014, more than 100

QRIS/Quality Improvement System (QIS) sites have been rated and/or receive support to improve quality care. The Stanislaus STARS for Quality has five tier levels and measures several elements of program quality, including (1) Child Development and School Readiness, (2) Teachers and Teaching, and (3) Program and Environment.

California State Preschool Programs, Infant and Toddler Programs, and State-Based Migrant Center-Based Programs, all funded solely or in part by contracts with the California Department of Education, may be eligible to receive monthly coaching, resources, materials, training, and specialized professional development. Monetary stipends are offered based on the tier level earned by participating sites. First 5 IMPACT participating sites receive coaching, resources, materials, training, and professional development at all levels. At this time, monetary stipends are not available.

Testimonial

Mentoring willing teachers brings hope and satisfaction. So many times the stress can get overwhelming. However, with an encouraging, thoughtful, persistent coach, you find new ways, redirect the challenges to successes and build confidence. Thank you for bringing this program to our county.

Success Story

A Preschool Teacher shared: Coaching really helped me be more aware of what is going on in the classroom with the videos that were taken. Sometimes the day goes so fast, it's a real eye-opener to take a snapshot. My coach helped me with how to better handle conflicts and better ways to transition when it's time to clean up, especially when the children are not ready.
